EAST CHICAGO MAN WARS WITH CITY HEALTH DEPARTMENT

(Special to THE TIMES.)

East Chicago, Jan. 3.—Is a man's house his castle when it is quarantined by the health department, or not?

Burt Lull, who lives at One Hundred and Forty-ninth street and Todd avenue and works as a clerk in the Republic mill, thought it was not about 11 o'clock New Year's night. So firmly convinced was he that this was so, that his quarantined domicile on New Year's day three times, driving his wife, who was nursing a baby girl sick with scarlet fever, and the rest of his family out of doors on two of these occasions.

He is now lodged in jail and his advent in the city battle, incidentally had the effect of causing the entire city to be quarantined.

NEVER THROW UP YOUR HANDS

If a man ever feels like throwing up his hands, it is when his bowels are all tied up and his liver fails to act. Mild-Lax, just one little harmless pleasant-to-the-taste tablet, will act like a charm on the bowels and in a few hours the world will look 100% better to you. "It serves you right." establishment to be fumigated, together with himself, and all the police officers connected with his arrest and who chanced to be about the place at the time he was brought in.

Since all of this took place Mr. Lull has come to the conclusion that he entertained a false impression of the relationship of houses to castles, and he is also reflecting on the possibility of facing a term of eighteen months in jail and a fine of $150, which is possible, since he repeated the mistake of entering and leaving his quarantined home on less than three times and the extreme penalty for each offense is a fine of $50 and six months in jail.

How It Came About.

The circumstances leading up to all of this were as follows: Police Officer Leo McCormick, who is detailed to assist the health department in maintaining the strict quarantine now required in East Chicago, met Lull during the morning. He (Lull) had been drinking and threatened to go over to his house. McCormick advised him not to and in making his daily round of the quarantined houses, was informed by Mrs. Lull, that her husband had been there during the morning. She asked McCormick to arrest him if he saw him as she felt certain that if he was not under lock and key, he would repeat his visit and make trouble for the family. Her fear proved well founded for at 1 o'clock in the evening he came back and drove the entire family out of the house, with the exception of the sick baby. Mrs. Lull notified the police and Officer Arthur Rundquist came over to arrest Lull.

When he arrived, however, Lull was nowhere to be found. At 11 o'clock at night, the man, now very much intoxicated reappeared, repeated his feat of the early evening, that of driving his family out of doors, and this time Sergeant Myer Rybecki went to the scene, and on his way encountered Officer Rundquist, who volunteered to go inside and get Lull, which he did.

On arriving at the police station, the health department was notified and no time was lost in fumigating the entire establishment, including Officers and prisoners.

Post-Mortem Values.

"A man may have a cur dog he doesn't consider worth a dose of rat poison," said Uncle Henry Butterworth, "but let his neighbor kill that cur and in less than five minutes the owner will be saying: 'I wouldn't have taken $50 for that dog.'"—Kansas City Times.

CLUB HAS AUSPICIOUS CELEBRATION

Indiana Harbor's Commercial Club Puts Up a Fine Program for Club Members and Friends to Mark Advent of 1910.

(Special to THE TIMES.)

Indiana Harbor, Ind., Jan. 3.—The advent of the new year was appropriately celebrated by the Commercial club of Indiana Harbor and East Chicago, Saturday night, by a reception, which for the first time since the club has been reorganized, included ladies as well as members of the club. There were about 150 present, which included besides members, their families and friends.

The evening was spent with cards and billiards and in the enjoyment of the excellent musical program provided by the entertainment committee.

Thomas Lewis of Chicago was first on the program, and delighted his audience as he always does. Mr. Lewis was followed by John Kamradt and his guitar, who kept his hearers at all times amused with his comic songs, and as one member remarked, "put everybody in good enough humor to pay their December gas bill." Frank Webb of the Inland was the next to entertain the audience with a song, which was thoroughly appreciated by all, and after him the musical program was broken by a short talk from Professor C. R. Holway, which was given in his usual happy and interesting vein. Dr. William Greenwald showed his mastery of the violin with a selection, after which Mrs. Montgomery of East Chicago rendered a vocal solo in her own charming style. Evan Lloyd, the premier baritone of Lake county, was gracious enough to favor the company with two solos, as did also Mr. Lewis. Professor Holway and his wife sang a parody on "Ruben, Ruben, I've Been Thinking," which kept everybody in convulsions.

President A. G. Lundquist announced the program in his own inimitable way. After the musical program was finished a lunch was served and about 12:30 a. m. the guests departed, each with the firm conviction that the members of the Commercial club of Indiana Harbor and East Chicago were entertainers par excellence.

The next regular business meeting of the club will take place next Wednesday night.

KILLED ON FIRST DAY OF YEAR

Evan Lewis, 30 years old, was instantly killed New Year's morning at ten o'clock in the plant of the Indiana Steel company by falling under a crane. Lewis' name had been entered as an applicant for membership to the Odd Fellows lodge and he probably would have been admitted next Friday night. It was anything but a happy New Year for the family of Lewis who had just started to celebrate in Sharron Pennsylvania when they received the telegram of the death of the husband and father. There were two children in the family. The body will be shipped tomorrow to the home of the deceased.

The death of the man who was employed as an electrician was purely accidental. He was working about at his duties as an electrician when he suddenly lost his balance and fell beneath one of the big cranes which crushed his body into a shapeless mass. He was removed to Jones' morgue where the inquest will probably be held this afternoon by Coroner E. R. Shanklin.

"FUTURE BRIGHT" SAYS JUDGE GARY

Head of U. S. Steel Corporation Declares Outlook in Iron Trade is Firm and Hopeful

NEW ORDERS GRATIFYING

Only Danger Seen Is From Too-Rapidly Rising Prices.

New York, Jan. 3.—The outlook for the new year in the iron and steel trade, which has been called the barometer of business in general, is pronounced firm and hopeful in a statement given out by Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation.

Overconfidence, with consequent inflation and a corrective collapse, remain the dangers, he says, of any period of prosperity—"but we have all learned something by experience," he adds, "in the past few years."

"For the past eight months the new orders received by the subsidiary companies of the United States Steel corporation have been gratifying," says Judge Gary. "During the month of December the bookings of these companies combined have been about 50,000 tons per day, while their capacity is about 41,000 tons per day. The only concern at the mills is to satisfy customers in regard to deliveries."

CAUSE FOR PROSPERITY. "Following the panic of 1907, which was the result of lack of confidence from various causes, there was a diminution in the buying of ordinary and regular supplies, and, therefore, the necessities of the purchasing public, particularly the railroads, had accumulated to such an extent that orders could no longer be deferred."

"Consequently, their volume suddenly developed into abnormal proportions. This, with the growth of the country and increasing uses for iron and steel, together with the financial resources of the people, have brought about the prosperity which is now in evidence."

"There is nothing in sight to indicate that there will be any great reduction in the iron and steel trade for the year 1910. Most of the manufacturers have orders which will fully occupy experience in the past few years. I think there is no one more desirous of maintaining prosperity, so far as the same is consistent with good government, than the president himself."

A NOISY WELCOME

(Special to THE TIMES.)

East Chicago, Ind., Jan. 3.—The coming of the New Year was duly heralded in East Chicago and Indiana Harbor by the tooting of every whistle in both towns and the firing of every available gun and revolver, to say nothing of the various watch parties, featured by much jollification and the tooting of hundreds of tin horns. The noise was greater, according to the "oldest inhabitants" this year than ever before, and this assertion is duly backed up by the fact that several new industries have been added to the Twin Cities since last year.

Many of the whistles kept up a steady blow for a full hour, beginning half an hour ahead of midnight and continuing until 12:30 a. m., so 1910 certainly need not feel slighted for lack of a proper reception.

The Hint Direct.

To Mrs. McCarthy, busy with her washing and in no mood for chat, had come Mrs. Clancy, who noticed after an hour or two that it has become cloudy. Said she: "Do it rain, Mrs. McCarthy?" "It do that, Mrs. Clancy; but not that hard I couldn't get home if I was at your house."—San Francisco Argonaut.
